

Review Process

1. Editor assigns submission to Section Editor to see through the editorial process.
2. The ICMA follows double blinded review process under the peer review. In the process the reviewer and the author remain anonymous to each other.
 - (a) There are two reviewers to conduct the peer review.
 - (b) If both two reviewers accept the paper, it will undergo the publishing process.
 - (c) One of the two reviewers rejected, the submission will go to the third reviewer.
 - (d) If both two reviewers reject the paper, it cannot be published in The International Journal of Crisis Management.
3. The review report will be delivered to the author. If author did not agree upon the review report after received it. The written agreement and/or supplemental statement will be welcomed. The board of editor will assign to new reviewers when the argument and/or supplemental statement were accepted. Thus, the new review will be conducted once again.